Details Regarding the Discontinuation of Products

Manufactured by Star

Star Micronics has been manufacturing and selling built-in circuit type buzzers for over 20 years, but in recent years we have been experiencing significant difficulties in the manufacture of these products due to problems including escalating prices for raw materials and excessive man-hours required for manufacture, in addition to decreases in sales volumes. We have made repeated efforts in order to continue the manufacture and distribution of these products. However, due to our inability to overcome the problems described above, we have decided to discontinue this range of products.

We would therefore like to ask our customers to confirm the details of this discontinuation which are described below.

《Models which are to be discontinued》

(1) Models covered by this discontinuation :	Built-in circuit type buzzers (As described in the attached list)
(2) Final day for acceptance of orders :	February 27 th , 2009 (Friday)
(3) Final day for sales of products :	August 27 th , 2009 (Friday)

《Request to our customers》

We would like to ask our customers to refer to the attached list in order to confirm the products that are to be discontinued and to place any orders by February 27th, 2009 (Friday).
